Why Repent?

(Excerpts from Deacon Peter's 1st Week of Lent Homily)
Part 1 of 3 Series- Self-reflection

Our Lord calls us to "repent and believe in the Gospel" especially during this season of Lent.

"But why do we need to repent? Repentance is often understood as regret, expressing sadness and disgust for mistakes. This understanding is somewhat correct, but penance is not only about the painful sadness of our sins, but also a chance to change our mind, a renewal of perspective to understand everything from a different point of view – to see everything in the light of the Truth.

Repentance is a good way to reflect or look at yourselves. Nowadays, we often chase money, fame, and power, forgetting our nature and dignity as Christians. As human beings, we are weak and sinful. Mistakes and shortcomings are unavoidable, no matter how virtuous you are, but people are very different in recognizing mistakes and determining how to correct them. Some people see and know that they are wrong but do not have the courage to correct themselves, but blame others, or seek to justify their actions without taking the first step in remedying their mistakes. Recognizing your flaws and having the desire to overcome them, that is called remorse, and when remorse is paired with a determination to change, it is repentance.

We must repent because we have a lot of sins deep in our hearts; we must have the courage to expose our shortcomings, our fragile and weak human life to God; we must, slowly but surely, change our way of thinking, our mentality, and our lifestyle, oriented toward God. We go on a new journey, where the Lord is extending his arms to wait for us."

. . . To be continued on the next bulletin issue . . .
